

Free ECHO BH Sessions for Pediatric Providers

Information for pediatric providers in all networks

Project ECHO (Extensions for Healthcare Outcomes) is an interactive, case-based learning collaborative created to help providers acquire skills to manage children with behavioral health (BH) conditions presenting in primary care offices. This clinical initiative is led by Ujjwal Ramtekkar, MD, a nationally recognized expert in child and adolescent behavioral health.

Children often use primary care providers (PCPs) for BH management. The ECHO BH series below have been created to help support pediatric primary care providers through collaboration with experts and the collective wisdom of the primary care community.

The ECHO Trauma and Abuse in Primary Care series is available from 12 to 1 p.m. on:

- June 4: Trauma and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) Across the Age Continuum and Psychopharmacology Part 1
- June 18: Suspecting Trauma in Primary Care and Psychopharmacology Part 2
- July 9: Understanding and Responding to Medical Trauma
- July 23: Working with Trauma – Focused Systems
